

HRES2224 - Employee/Labor Relations

Credits:	3 (3/0/0)
Description:	This course covers basic information about the history and current role of labor unions, current labor laws and the rights of employees.
Prerequisites:
Corequisites:
Pre/Corequisites*:
Competencies:	<ol> <li>Review the historical background of unionism.</li> <li>Review the role of the National Labor Relations Board.</li> <li>Examine the different approaches to unionism.</li> <li>Identify the labor union's current role in society.</li> <li>Describe the major elements of the collective bargaining process.</li> <li>Review the effects of labor law on union and management.</li> <li>Compare the positions of both union and management related to the employee/employer relationship.</li> <li>Relate the importance of interpersonal communication, trust and conflict management skills in employee relations.</li> <li>Interpret the elements of a typical grievance procedure.</li> <li>Identify the differences of public and private sector bargaining.</li> <li>Identify and use the dispute resolution process to manage conflict in settling workplace disputes.</li> <li>Analyze existing labor agreements.</li> <li>Demonstrate contract negotiation techniques.</li> </ol>
MnTC goal areas:	None

*Can be taking as a Prerequisite or Corequisite.